A Chinese takeaway with suspect ingredients

hina's medal haul was greeted coolly by the German crowd at the World Championships in Stuttgart. They clearly shared the view of those alleging that success came from needles that owed nothing to acupuncture. How could a country with no endurance tradition, no background in the sport, overhaul the world so fast? Just as East Germany once did, without corresponding male success.

The explanation with the greatest currency was that a procession of East German and Bulgarian coaches, the former brotherhood of the needle, had initiated the Chinese.

England-educated Lou Dapeng, a senior member of the council of the International Amateur Athletic Federation, was horrified that his country's efforts should be tarnished. He categorically denied the presence of any East German coaches in Chinese track and field. "Not a single one."

Weng Quingzhang, deputy secretary general of the Chinese Association of Sports Medicine, in London for a world anti-doping conference after the championships, said there was only one coach from the former East German now working in China - one more than Mr Lou admitted to.

Both of the sports mandarins predictably deny any presence of, or approval for, a doping regime. But coaches, doctors, athletes and senior anti-doping control officers remain unconvinced. UK coaching director Frank Dick is on record with the double-edged comment: "The Chinese have clearly benefited from the East German and Bulgarian coaching."

Peter Radford, professor of sports science at Glasgow University, the former Olympic sprint bronze medallist and head of the Sports Council's anti-doping unit, told the anti-doping conference that governments are conspiring to back drug regimes and suggests that individuals, when tested, should also in future be finger-printed: "to protect the Chinese from unwarranted slurs."

Radford is a diplomat.

ut he is clearly aware that western doping officers, despite open visas that permit unannounced entry, are uneasy in China, with streets often unnamed and where features, to Western eyes, are all alike. Doping officers cannot even be certain they are testing the right person.

The fact that the Chinese themselves have detected and reported four offenders to the IAAF in two years cuts little ice. The IAAF's own random out-of-competition anti-doping squad has made four visits to China and has caught three athletes in fewer than 50 tests - more than a 6% strike rate.

Compare this, say the critics, with 704 tests on British athletes when only two positives were recorded - 0.28%.

Nobody cried foul when Seb Coe, Tom McKean and Steve Cram came up the same Stuttgart straight to sweep the 1986 European 800m medals. Nobody suggests that Kenyan domination of men's endurance is drug-fuelled.

China, a nation of more than 1.2 billion has a large population to draw on. Maybe even a new genetic pool, previously unexposed to sport?

he tragedy of our times is that smear and innuendo follow the winner to the tape after every improvement, irrespective of whether it is legitimate. Britain's champions are not immune. There was an angry exchange between UK and foreign athletes in Germany when it was suggested that British success might have been mechanically engineered.

Yvonne Murray and coach Tom Boyle are adamant that cheating is continuing. So too, is Liz McColgan. Both may give up championship athletics if the authorities fail to contain it. But they may only be the first. In the morass of lies and vested interest and with hundreds of millions in TV fees, marketing and sponsorship at stake, separating fact from fiction is near impossible.

But if the IAAF cannot clean up their act - and their spending on anti-doping is paltry - they will have no act.

That's a fact.

(Athletics correspondent of THE HERALD)

CoG cap best year

GITY of Glasgow capped their best season in their three-year history when they won the Bank of Scotland Scottish Women's League for the third successive year, at Meadowbank, completing a unique league double for the Glasgow women. But even that success was put in the shade by their earlier victory in the UK women's League, when they captured the first-division title for the first time, writes Doug Gillon

Unfortunately, unlike the UK men's league, where the winners carry Britain's flag in next year's European Clubs' Championships, the women's entry for that event goes to the the winners of the GRE Jubilee Cup — and Glasgow slipped up, fielding an under-strength side in the semis, and did not reach the cup final.

The UK place in the European Clubs went to Essex, who finished a remote third in the league after placing last in the final match.

Edinburgh Woollen Mill, runners up for the Scottish title, staged a tremendous Houdini act in the British League.

Bottom, behind Wigan and Birchfield after the first two matches, and apparently doomed to relegation, they grabbed a second in the final match, behind Glasgow, and escaped the drop. The capital side produced the class performance of the meeting, a legal clocking of 11.59 over 100m for Aileen McGillivray, just .09 short of the seven-year-old Scottish native best standing to Sandra Whittaker.

Big point winners for Glasgow were Alison Grey, who took the A shot (15.16) and discus (44.60), Mel Neef, who won the A 400m (55.12) and B 100m (11.90), and Hazel Melvin who won the B high and long jumps (1.70m/5.20m). Other Glasgow winners included Jane Low (400m hurdles, 59.80), Lynn McIntyre (800m, 2-11.23) and Rhona Pinkerton (high jump, 1.70m).

Whittle plans comeback

BRIAN Whittle has not enjoyed the best of fortune in his attempted transition from 800m to 400m hurdles, falling several times and then damaging a nerve, writes Doug Gillon.

The Ayr Seaforth runner, native record holder at 400m on the flat, ended his season prematurely, requiring surgery on a knee tendon.

He was in hospital for arthroscopic surgery for just one day, and is convinced he will be back next year, challenging for a place in the UK team for the European championships and Scotland's team for the Commonwealth Games in Victoria. Initially, he thought both knees needed surgery, but it transpired that the problem with one knee was causing trouble on the other side.

Despite his tentative opening at the hurdles, Whittle is still ranked fifth in the UK at the event this summer, and Gary Cadogan, the only man to make the British team for the World Championships: "has done nothing to make me fear that I can't make the grade in the event,"

Scotland U-20 win in Devon

SCOTLAND supplied 11 individual winners and eight personal bests on the way to victory at the U-20 Inter-Area meeting, staged in the new £3 million Exeter arena in Devon.

The Scots totalled 110.5 points to beat the South-East by four points, with South-West third (78.5) and Hants and Oxon fourth (61.5).

This month's Scotland's Runner/Reebok young athlete of the month, Barry Middleton of Aberdeen accomplished both in taking the 400m hurdles in 54.9 secs.

Scottish team captain Lorna Silver won her 400m hurdles in 63.2 seconds, while Sinead Dudgeon took the 100m in 12.4 secs.

Other winners: S. Taylor (Pitreavie) 800m (1:54.8; I Mackie (Pitreavie) 200m (22.0); M. Kelso (Carnegie) 2,000m

Inverness winners

SCOTTISH Schools' champion, David Cotter, received man of the match award for his double win in the United Kingdom auxiliary final of the McDonald's Young Athletes League in Birmingham.

Cotter won the B 100m in 11.45 secs and his speciality, the 100m hurdles, in 13.44. But he only narrowly beat his own Inverness Harrier dubmate, Scott Fraser for the award, Fraser won the A 100m and 200m in 11.12 and 22.63 respectively.

Inverness (314 points) recorded the best ever Scottish performance, finishing sixth behind Cardiff (428), Enfield (402), Shaftesbury (346), Wirral (329), and Middlesborough (327.5), ahead of Telford (308.5) and Medway (302).

No rest

TRIATHLETE Ginny Pollard feels she is due a rest after finishing third in the Scottish half marathon championships, eighth in her age group at the world tri event, and winning the Dumfries duathlon. But the Aberdeen woman says she may tackle the Scottish 10-mile event at Inverness.

Youngsters win 24 more golds

SCOTTISH youngsters continued their run of summer successes by winning all four age group categories at the Celtic Games in Carmarthen

One week after taking 18 medals at the AAA age group championships at Birmingham the previous weekend, the Scots scored convincing victories in both the girls' and boys' matches, totalling 24 golds from 48 events.

Of the ten records set by Scots, nine came in the boys' match. Three came in field events, with Martin Pate winning the high jump with 2.00m. Bruce Robb the shot with a throw of 15.58, and Peter Fraser reaching 54.62 in the javelin.

The under-15 sprinters, led by record-breaking Andrew Lees (100m in 11.54 secs) and Julian Love (220m in 22.90) set a record of 44.52 secs in the 4x100 relay.

Another came when the senior boys' under 17 team recorded 42.48.

Suzanne McGowan from Motherwell was the only recordbreaker in the girls' event, running the 3000m in 40.02.3.

Hammering records

BILL Gentleman. formerly coach to Yvonne Murray, has an undiminished appetite for competition at the age of 53. Competing as a guest in the Border event at Tweedbank, Gentlemen hurled the six-kilo missile 50.22 metres for his seventh Scottish best in the event in four years. He has advanced the record from 34m, and hopes to go further next year.

Another veteran on the record trail is Shettleston's John Scott, who established a UK 50-plus record of 14.69m in the revived Glasgow Championships. He launched the hammer five centimetres beyond Eric Barker's UK mark. Scott has traded the record with Barker recently, but the UK outdoor veteran champion's competitive instincts run

In 1971 he lost the Scottish AAA title by one centimetre, to Sandy Sutherland, and earlier he had also placed second, in the hammer, to Laurie Bryce. Scott, a retired police officer, is one of several Scots heading for the world veteran event in Japan.

'New Year' Sprint on Hogmanay

THE 125-year old New Year professional sprints meeting, traditionally staged on January 1 and 2, is to be brought forward to December 30 and 31.

The change will allow Scots athletes to celebrate the New Year in style, but has been pushed for more practical reasons - because the of the cost of hiring Meadowbank Stadium at the later date, and to avoid a clash with the New Year's Day football programme.

Promoter Frank Hanlon said: "I hope it will persuade a few more people to come

"I know the athletes will support the meeting whatever day it is."

Staff costs of double or even treble time are believed to have forced Hanlon into switching dates - a move which means that two "New Year" professional sprints meetings will have been staged this year.

Hanlon is thought to have finished off substantially out of pocket after the 1992 and 1993 New Year meetings.

In 1979, quite different circumstances forced a change of date, as heavy snow postponed the meeting until January 13 and 14 when it was run in temperatures of minus14C.

Rare Edinburgh double

EDINBURGH Southern and their female counterparts. Woollen Mill, scored a rare double by reaching the finals of the GRE and Jubilee Cups at Sheffield.

But Southern were unable to improve on their last place of their two most recent appearances in the final.

Their only winner was Glen Stewart, in the 1500m, with 400.75, after a final 800m in 1-

The women, having reached the final for the first time in eight years, were a creditable fourth. Aileen MacGillivray was their only winner.

Just pipped by Paula Thomas in the 100m, she conquered unfavourable lane one in the 200m, and clocked 23.66, holding off Thomas at the line.

Panasonic league champs

EDINBURGH AC retained their Panasonic Scottish men's league athletics title at Crownpoint, winning against closest league challengers Shettleston with 23 points to Scottish international Gary Brown set a league record when he won the 800 metres in I min 48.0 secs, to beat Nat Muir's ten-year-old previous best by two seconds. He later took the 1500m in 3-48.04.

Inverness Harriers' Dave Barnetson was another to set a league record, winning the high jump with a clearance of Dundee Hawkhill's John MacKenzie won the triple jump with a leap of 15.59m a division two record.

Inverness and Cambuslang were relegated from the first division, to be replaced by East Kilbride and Clydesdale, promoted from the second.

Haining back and 2nd in Irvine 10k

BRITISH cross-country internationalist Hailey Haining (Nith Valley), racing for the first time since injury forced her to drop out of the British World Championship team two years ago, finished runnerup to Glasgow's Sandra Branney over 10 kilometres on the roads at Irvine.

Haining clocked 37-08, just over two minutes behind Branney, while overall victory went to Graeme Wright (Ayr Seaforth) in 31-29.

SAF Roadshow programme

THE SCOTTISH Athletics Federation go on tour this Autumn with a series of "Roadshows", aimed at increasing awareness of their own role and generating discussion on the future of Scottish athletics.

SAF Administer, Neil Park. the Development Officer. Graham Ross, and National Coach Andy Vince will be in attendance at the following venues:

Mon 27th Sep - Queens Park Leisure Centre, Inverness.

Tues 28th Sep - Music Hall, Aberdeen.

Wed 29th Sep - Northern College of Education, Dundee.

Thurs 30th Sep - Heriot Watt University, Edinburgh.

Friday 1st Oct - Alexandra Hotel Fort William.

Monday 4th Oct - Kelvin Hall. Glasgow.

Tues 5th Oct - Foxbar Hotel, Kilmarnock.

Thurs 7th Oct - Volunteer Hall. Galashiels.

Mon 11th Oct - David Keswick Centre, Dumfries.

No age change this season

THE SAF Council have agreed to suspend implementation of the proposed new age grouping for Road Running and Cross Country events

Three of the four home countries, England being the exception have now decided against changing the existing age groupings for the coming winter season starting on October 1. The BAF Council will decide on age grouping for the 1994/5 season on December 6.

Affiliated

AN APPLICATION for affiliation to the SAF by Cosmic Hillbashers AAC, a hill running club based in Aberdeen, has been approved.

Meanwhile, two name changes have been given the go ahead -Badenoch and Strathspey AC become The Wolves of Badenoch Running Club, while BRC Road Runners will now compete as Bo'ness Road Runners.

YVONNE Murray some consolation for her World Championship letdown when she won the 2000 metres at the McDonalds Games at Sheffield, writes Doug Gillon.

The Musselburgh woman clocked 5 min 36.03 secs and claimed three satisfying scalps. Alison Wyeth and Paula Radcliffe, who had beaten the European 3000m champion in Stuttgart, were second and third with a more positive race to warm him.

Ian Gillespie, though only eleventh in the 1500m, clocked 3-40.72, which at the time of going to press ranked the Birchfield man second Scot this year only behind world indoor silver medal winner David Strang.

City of Glasgow's Jane Low was seventh in the 400m hurdles with 60.68, well down on world champion Sally Gunnell - one of the few times this summer when Low has not gone inside the minute.

Highlight of the meeting were three successive records by Ian Zelezney in the javelin. The Czech, just 6 ft 1 ins and 12 stone 2lbs, opened with a ground record, then a UK all comers' best, and finally a world record of 95.66m. It was the first world record in Britain since Steve Backley in the same event three years ago.

University scene revives after long, hard vacation universities start a new A vear in October. Regular readers may have noticed that this column has been absent for much of the summer but this has been due to the hectic social and sporting calendar experienced by the students. So what do students do when they are on leave? In 1993 the answer was that they all went on holiday. The Scottish Select went to Antrim while Glasgow are still, at time of writing, on their European tour.

The Antrim match was against the Northern Ireland under-20 team and the Irish Universities at the Forum. The happy travellers left Glasgow and arrived in Belfast to be greeted by a bomb alert, "Welcome to Belfast" said one of the locals. Apart from this early scare, there was no sign of the troubles that have plagued the province in recent times.

The first night passed quietly as everyone tried to recover from the journey. The Tuesday morning was spent at the track, perfecting the relay changeovers. The use of the word "perfect" is entirely appropriate when dealing with the women's team, but the men's team fell short of that mark

In the women's competition, Lorna Silver was first up in the 400m hurdles. After a long lays the summer ends the off with illness she ran a creditable 64.32 secs. After a few more races she will undoubtedly be back down around the one minute mark. The trip probably came too early for her as she had only one previous outing, but despite that she performed well in finishing second.

Yvonne chases Alison Wyeth in the McDonald's Games 2000m at Next on the track was British Universities champion Jane Fleming in the 100m who maintained her impressive early season form by winning the race in 12.40secs. Despite her unbeaten record as a student in 1993 the tour ended in disappointment for her as she was inexplicably overlooked for the world student games team. As previously stated in this column she has been underestimated for years, but the selectors must take a close look at themselves when they realise their mistake in not selecting Jane for at least a relay place. She has beaten everyone placed in her way over 100m this year. What more can a girl do?

lane's win was closely followed by victory over 800m for Alison Potts in 2.15.56, although Carol Sharp, running as a guest, crossed the line first in 2.13.30. Suzanne Wood can also be pleased with her third place in 2.18.08.

Elsewhere the women were turning in solid performances and picking up some useful points. Dawn Burden's 57.99 secs in the 400m was enough for another second place, while Caroline Black's 5.65m long jump also took silver despite competing in three events at one time.

It was the sprint hurdles however that proved to be the highlight of the match. Clare McIntosh ran a legal p.b. of 14.44secs but was narrowly pipped on the line by the young Irish talent Vikki Jamison (14.40secs). Jamison was alread from the gun, but McIntosh clawed her way back into the race and led from hurdle six until hurdle 10, at which point Jamison just managed to outsprint Clare to steal it on the line, Sarah Richmond took third in a time of 15.03 secs, although it looked faster as she appeared to be close to the other two on the line. Clare followed up her hurdles run with an impressive debut of 11.0m in the triple

With other good performances from Ruth Girvan (25.53 in the 200m) and Tracy Brindley (second in a tactical 3000m), the women's match hinged on the two relays. The perfect 4x100m team of McIntosh, Black, Girvan and Fleming won impressively n 48.45secs, but defeat in the 4x400m meant that the team had to be satisfied with second place, some three points behind the Irish students.

A men's team weakened by last minute call-offs was never really in the hunt. Missing athletes like Paul Walker, Gregor McMillan, John McFadyen, Phil Mowbray, Graeme Smith, Hugh Watson, Alan Malcolm, Phil Lewis and Lachie Carter, it was almost a reserve tea that travelled and they lost convincingly to the two Irish teams. There were, however, some good individual performances by hammer-thrower Dave (56.58m), Chris Krievs (400m in 49.93 secs), team captain Ken Pearson (400 hurdles in 56.63 secs) and steeplechaser Gordon Crawford (9.16.48). The lessthan-perfect 4x100m relay team confounded the management by messing up the final change and being disqualified. The match was enjoyable, with several personal best performances by the Scots. Most enjoyable however, was the warmth of the welcome extended by the Irish. The hospitality was excellent and the Scots felt quite at home. They also showed the Irish how to party after a match and there were some sorry faces the next morning.

Help yourself to health in East Kilbride

he Health Yourself scheme was launched towards the end of March with the aim of raising public awareness on health and health related matters in East Kilbride and, in basic terms in allowing the people of East Kilbride to help themselves to facilities and in the long run better

Meeting the rising demand in the area for information on health related matters, the programme is the latest in a number of similar District Council initiatives, and these in the past have included fitness testing, sports injuries clinics, sport development courses classes. Shape-Up and health suites at the Dollan Baths and John Wright Sports Centres.

The East Kilbride library has been newly equipped to cope with the expected rush of interest and, over and above existing health information books and leaflets, new additions include videos and audio cassettes and magazine articles. Health Yourself aims to improve the health of the local community by giving people easy access to the information they need to make more informed choices about their health and life-style.

Prompted into the move at the end of last year the District Council are helping answer questions the public, repeatedly, want to know.

The symptoms of allergies, the side effects of prescription drugs, the benefits of aromatherapy and a fat free diet - including contact numbers for self-help and support groups in the area and where to find local fit-

Recognising the benefits of the scheme in an area such as East Kilbride financial backing was ploughed into the scheme in the form of grants from the Scottish Library and the Information Council. This money has been used to purchase a computer, printer and additional software for the computer to store information for health conscious users. In addition, the computers store information on local

Once you access the information you will discover there are a wide range of courses and classes - no matter how fit, or unfit, you think you are. For the over 50's, both men and women, specially designed classes have been created and the exercises taught are gentle and supervised by a specially trained instructor. Pre-school services are also coming to prominence in the bid to teach co-ordination. The age group sessions move right along the line and include junior classes, general fitness and exercise classes to the ever popular yoga.

The council also recognise that no matter how experienced an athlete you are injuries are unavoidable some time. However, the Sports Medicine Centre is there to deal with the problems and is staffed by a doctor or chartered physiotherapist. Those that are not affected by the odd sprain or twisted ankle are able to test just how fit they actually are with the fitness testing centre which can profile your aerobic capacity, lung capacity, flexibility, postural endurance, grip strength, body fat percentage and your blood pressure.

Or for those of you who want to relax, rather than partake in more at the John Wright Sports Centre and the Dollan Baths are open and you can enjoy a full range of health and beauty treatments by a professional beauty therapist and aromatherapist. As well as aromatherapy and Swedish massage - Reflexology is an ancient Chinese treatment that can relieve stress, backache, pre menstrual tension, arthritis and other health problems.

Shaping up to a healthier life with the help of state of the art machines is the aim of Shape Up, the art cardiovascular and strength machines. Flexible and easy to use it is aimed at motivating you to keep exercising over a sustained period of time.

sun-filtered, thronging Kiptanui, last year's Princes Street provided the perfect venue for what proved, despite previous aspersions about the validity of the world class billing, a true top quality road mile.

Yates' obvious delight was highlighted by unconfined celebrations on crossing the finishing line of the revised course after a controlled, carefully judged performance which he attributed, to lessons learned from last year, when; after trailing home fifth, he was sick on the steps of The Balmoral Hotel

Winning in 3:56 this year he believed the round course - and the closing hill - was every bit as hard as last year, and said: "I think the fact that I won was the only reason I wasn't sick."

The:Kenyans struck up an outrageous pace at the starting gun with double world - 3000m steeplechase champion Moses David Kibet, and Spain's Olympic 1500m champion Fermin Cacho, scorching to the front, but the race almost ground to a bizarre halt when Kiptanui took a wrong turning to follow a television bike through the traffic islands just vards away from the clearly coned turn.

Yates gives a straight answer

Despite the mishap the turn was made in 1:55 and sprinting away from the mistake, conversely, ended their hopes and determined the Englishman's impressive strategic win.

Later Yates explained: "They went faster off the turn and made up five metres on the rest of the field. I stayed calm and collected at that point. If I had gone with them I wouldn't have

"I have seen runners take the wrong turning this year, at the Aberdeen meeting, but they should have run the course before the race. Everybody else

The front runners who had made all the early pace faded badly. Kiptanui hung on well to finish fourth in 3:58 while Kibet

Obviously, the early leaders misjudged, a mistake not made by Yates who remembered the energy reserve needed after covering the straight course last

"I found out about the hill last year," he grinned, with a Citroen car to give his mum for her birthday and $3,000 richer.

Yates beat countryman John Maycock into second place in 3:57 while American Iim Spivey crossed the line half a second behind, with Steve Cram, enjoying a return from 5000m to the distance he dominated through the 80's, coming fifth in 3:58.

But for Yates the win indicated the world quality that British middle distance running maintains now despite slurs from past greats this year. Steve Ovett enjoyed a race with a group of oungsters in the Race with Stars in the morning and Yates fired a triumphant blast at his friend when asked why his celebrations were so euphoric.

The 24-year-old, whose season was plagued with injury last year, said: "I'm getting fed up with Steve slagging off British middle distance running. World athletics is so much harder now, especially to win middle distance events. But we've got me and Curtis Robb who are up there,"

Edinburgh confirmed as top road mile

Matthew Yates about to start celebrating

It was interesting that Steve Scott, perhaps the world's greatest, unrecognised 1500m runner of all time, said he believed Yates would be the man to watch for future Olympic honours at that distance.

Scott himself enjoyed his Edinburgh date, winning the Past Master's Mile in a time of 4:14, just ahead of Eamonn Coghlan, both of whom are still very much chasing honours and recognition, despite respective ages of 36 and 40. Both are the front runners in the bid to be the first veteran to break the four minute mile.

Scott said: "I'm just hoping and praying that nobody else does it, so I can be the first."

Scotland's John Robson provided a rare home performance to be proud of with a time of 4:17 in the Past Masters.

The Scots' performances in the International Men's race was poor, Philip Mowbray was best placed in tenth with 4:03: Glen Stewart came twelfth in 4:06 and Gary Brown and Tom Hanlon traipsed over the line fourteenth and fifteenth.

Tvonne Murray raised home hopes in the women's event but could not halt the roll of Irishwoman Sonia O'Sullivan.

Murray hung on for much of the race but eventually began to struggle as a beaming O'Sullivan piled another garland on to her season's pile, marking a natural progression from last year's second place. Home in 4:25, Murray was behind at 4:26 while last year's victor Ellen Van Langen from Holland was third on 4:29. Murray was not too upset by her second place and said: "Everyone says I have got home advantage but that hill gets me every time. It's a bit of fun at the end of the track season. All the girls just go out and have a bit of

The presence of the Scot on her shoulder was, amazingly, never noticed by the Irish woman who said the intensity of the track and closeness of competitors was lost on the open road. "I'm probably getting towards the end of my roll," she admit-

Karen Kirk was placed eighth. In the Junior Men's race Tom Winter of Edinburgh Athletic Club and Scott Taylor from Babcock Thorn Pitreavie were not expected to make any impression against the mighty Vincent Malakwen, Based at the same military camp in Kenya as Moses Kiptanui and with a personal best in the 800m of 1:46.06, he romped the course in 4:14 with Winters running a time of 4:18 and Taylor a second behind in 4:19.

The 19 year old Malakwen said later: "I enjoyed the race but the ground was too hard for me, but then it was my first time in a road mile."

Winter collected a second place to add to an identical result, suffering greatly from a had turn.

Heinz Frei of Switzerland had no trouble manoeuvring it winning the wheelchair mile in 3:21.

The turn varied from last year's straight mile but the new course provides a better arena for the 25,000 spectators police estimated had turned out for the day. Promoted by Standard Life and supported by Lothian Enterprise and the city council the event is now one of true world standing and Mike Wilson of organisers Gameplan said an announcement would be made in the next four weeks on its

Yangtse tide starts to flow

by Doug Gillon Athletics Correspondent of The Herald

The undying memory of the World Athletic Championships, despite three titles and two world records for Britain, was the Yangtse tide which swept the medals in the women's 3000 metres and with it the hopes of European champion Yvonne Murray

That memory was reinforced by Chinese victories in the 1500 and 10.000m. And the subsequent demolition of the women's 10,000m record, by 42 seconds - surely putting it beyond the reach of Liz McColgan - concluded a series of races which confirm the end to the West's domination of women's endurance running.

Make no mistake, the Chinese way in athletics is just beginning. And while Britain rejoices in world titles from Linford Christie, Colin Jackson and Sally Gunnell, the orient excess was an awesome reminder that more than 1.2 billion people have the potential to produce a lot of champions. With or without chemical turbochargers.

If Scotland, with a population of just over 5m, can produce a Murray and a McColgan in a decade, statistical probability would give China 240 Murrays and 240 McColgans.

We should bow to the reality that the past few years, with several Scots world-ranked, has been a golden age for Scottish athletics and accept that we must work harder and be better organised if we are to see their likes again.

Six Scots in a near 90-strong UK team was less than we should have expected, but five of the six contested finals.

Murray's was the greatest fall, perhaps because her expectation was highest, after the world indoor 3000m title during the winter and the best summer of her life. Her ninth placing, one better than the Olympics last year and one worse than the '91 worlds, was less disconcerting than the manner of her capitula-

In an orgy of despair after the three Chinese surged past, she was impotent as fellow Britons Alison Wyeth and Paula Radcliffe went past to record personal bests, neither ever having beaten her before.

Analysis in the aftermath should have allowed Murray to be less self-critical. The Chinese trio, who had given warning in their own national championships - and without their fastest woman Wang Junxia raced away in the later stages, covering the final 600m in 1-29 and the last 800 in 2-03 - faster than any Scottish woman has run for two laps this year!

Their last 2000m would have placed them fourth on the world all-time list for that distance, just a fraction outside Murray's British record of 5-29.58.

"I have no excuses," said Murray on reflection, though she made some damning allegations speculating on the manner of her rivals' meteoric rise and best left unrepeated. "I allowed myself to be intimidated by the Chinese, I knew I had a race on my hands with Sonia (O'Sullivan, who placed fourth), but I could not face the reality of not winning a medal. I had the wrong attitude, an unprofessional one.

"I was there to compete, but I did not. When they went past my heart went and I am angry for not having run my own race, especially given the experience I have."

Her fellow world champion, McKean, coachless, defied all logic by reaching the final of the 800m. But the manner in which he threw up his arms on finishing his semi, knowing he had qualified, perhaps gave a clue to his state of mind. There is the suspicion that in doing so he felt he had achieved some kind of self-perceived goal. Pamela Murray, the psychologist newly appointed as support services manager by the SAF and now helping McKean, is better equipped to analyse such a gesture, but the Motherwell man. who ran flawlessly through the opening rounds, let his concentration drift on the second circuit of the final.

Paul Ruto, seen as a rabbit for his two more illustrious Kenyan colleagues, remained out in front, Mckean and Robb thought it was a ploy, covered Olympic champion Tanui instead, kept another eve on defending champion Konchellah at the rear, then realised too late that Ruto was not coming back.

The Scot drifted into noman's land, out of medal contention, then was badly bumped by the South African, Sepeng, some 60 metres from the line.

"I'd have been disqualified if I'd done that," he said. But McKean agreed that fifth would probably have been the most he could have hoped for. In fact he finished last - the same as his only other appearance in the world outdoor final, in 1987.

Tom Hanlon discovered that, as he had feared, a second winter of missed training is no way to prepare for the Kenyans in the 3000m steeplechase. Injury cost him the better part of five months and although there was only one round before the final the Leslie Deans club man had to work hard to survive, getting through as a fastest loser, fifth in 8-23.16.

He thought a fast, even pace, from the gun, was his best hope in the final and tried to ensure that, leading for the opening two laps before fading rapidly to the rear, last of the 15 finishers in 8-45.62. Only the Italian, Lambruschini, third, spoiled a Kenyan sweep.

Karen Macleod almost dropped out of the women's marathon before finishing 16th in 2-41.46, some six minutes outside her best. On a roasting day the Edinburgh Athletic Club woman, an asthmatic, found conditions on the tree-lined route very testing, almost suffering a panic attack as she struggled for air.

However she was just two places and 61, seconds behind England's Marion Sutton, the leading Commonwealth finisher. "I hope that will give me selection for Victoria without having to run another marathon before the Games," said Karen.

Macleod and Paul Evans were well looked after on the edge of the Black Forest by Ross Hepburn who has lived in the area for 12 years. Hepburn organised outings for the team and acted as a liaison officer, smoothing the party's path.

Vikki McPherson, having qualified belatedly at the World Student Games and probably not fully recovered, found the going tough in her 10,000m heat and was understandably intimidated by the thought that she was Britain's only representative in the event in which Liz McColgan had won the only UK title, in Tokyo.

Liz, back home in Carnoustie, sent an encouraging good luck card, but there was no fairytale end for the Glasgow graduate. McPherson finished 17th, in 33-49.51, with the first 10 qualifying for the final, where yet another China one-two had the sceptics nodding knowingly.

Verity Larby, competing in her first major championships, finished 29th, second Briton in the 10,000m with 47-54. almost a minute outside her Scottish record in 72-degree heat and 60% humidi-

"It was a fair walk in the conditions," said Larby, drenched in sweat after finishing 5min 05 secs behind the first winner of the championships, Sari Essavah of Finland.

Larby has set five Scottish records, at 3000, 5000 and 10,000m this year. "That's no big deal," she says. "Because I am the country's only female walker it's a record every time I set a personal best."

The Guildford secretary has shown considerable courage to recover from a car accident last year in which she broke a foot and her nose, losing nine months' training. She still suffers from sinusitis and will undergo surgery shortly. The 22-year-old Larby is a secretary at Surrey University and one of her colleagues there is former Olympic champion Allan Wells. "He has been a big help to me. with advice and encouragement," she said. "But I was a nervous wreck before the championships. I could not eat or sleep and went to the doctor. But he said it was just nerves."

Larby was fourth Commonwealth athlete to finish, which augurs well for her Victoria hopes next year. "But my real aim is to bring respectability to British women's walking," she said.

ut this was a glorious Christie's 100m win in 9.87 secs should be recorded as the greatest 100m run ever. When Carl Lewis clocked the world record of 9.86 in Tokyo it was on a track which the IAAF would not sanction if it were built today. The surface, exceedingly hard, does not match current specification and the wind speed, at plus 1.2 metres per second in Tokyo, helped Lewis far more than the plus 0.3 which Christie had in Stuttgart.

Bigger, faster, stronger, despite his 33 years, Christie has no reason to retire, other than the desire to finish at the top and not like the fading Lewis back in fourth as the young pretenders, Cason and Mitchell, made their mark.

Christie was in tears for his pal, Colin Jackson, after the Welshman nipped one hundredth of a second from Roger Kingdom's mark in the 110m hurdles with 12.91 sec and Tony larret emphasised the message with second in 13.00, the fastest time ever not to win a race.

Jackson is the first British athlete to set a world hurdles record since his namesake, Clement Jackson, clocked 16.00 for 120 yards hurdles, in 1865.

Jackson started faster (.128 reaction time, than anyone in the 100m final) and like Christie laid to rest the myth of US invin-

She knew she could run a record in Stuttgart. What she did not expect was that she would have to do so to win. Sandra Farmer-Patrick was still in front at the final flight and Gunnell had to dig deep as she came home in a time which no Scottish woman has achieved this year for the flat 400m.

She finished five hundredths ahead of the American and .20 inside the old record. It was the first world track best by a British woman since Anne Smith ran 4-17.3 for 1500m in 1967 and the first UK woman to set a world track record in a championship since Ann Packer (800m, 2-01.1) at the Tokyo Olympics.

John Regis broke the UK 200m record with 19.94, collecting silver and Steve Smith, in a lot of pain with a back injury, grabbed bronze in the high jump with 2.37m. There were bronzes from Jon Edwards (triple jump, 17.44m) and Mick Hill (javelin, 82.96m) and the men's 4 x 100 (silver) and women's 4 x 400 (bronze) brought the medal haul to 10, a record for Britain who finished joint fourth on the medal table,

Liz vows to take on Chinese

LIZ McCOLGAN has vowed to come out of her careerthreatening injury problem fitter than ever and raring to slug it out against the Chinese athletes whose world record beating performances in the 10000, 3000 and 1500 metres have stunned the athletics world, writes Matthew Lindsay.

And it was revealed last month that experts had feared it may have prevented any further involvement in athletics as McColgan was failing to get traction in her leg as she ran.

But those fears were dismissed and now she looks set to make a historic comeback - as the first woman to compete in the Edinburgh to Glasgow Road Race in December.

Speaking at a promotional event for sponsors Asics last month she remained pragmatic about the maligned Chinese female athletes.

She said: "It's obvious there are drugs involved in the performances, but in saying that it's no big shock and I've been up against it all through my career and it just makes me more determined."

McColgan was pleased with the progress her injury is making and hoped it would have cleared up completely by December. Disappointed at missing the World Championships in Stuttgart among other summer events McColgan is determined to use the situation to her advan-chance to rest it properly and when I come back I'll have a really good season. I will be mentally rested as well as physically and I will be able to run hard."

McColgan also revealed a possible switch in priorities when she does return to full race fitness.

"Time is on my side and when I do come back I will be concentrating on the London Marathon and, for the first time ever, the World Cross Country Championships,' hatever injected new life into the traditionally mediocre Chinese athletes at this year's World Championships it certainly wasn't their facilities, or their accommodation and it sure as hell was not the eastern cuisine.

Not, at least, going by the experiences of the four young Scots athletes who returned from ten days in China earlier this month where they took part in the Eric Liddell Foundation training camp.

Star heavies Stephan Hayward and Iain Park, javelin thrower Lorna Jackson and 400 metre hurdler Alison Curbishley were all picked to represent Scotland at the international event in Tianjin from August 26 to September 6.

But after a gruelling 18 hour flight 400 metre hurdler Curbishley spent two days on a drip of salt, glucose and Vitamin C in a Chinese hospital, javelin thrower Lorna Grant lost half a stone in weight due to a substandard diet and fluid loss and the male members of the party were forced to sleep on the floor because the accommodation they were offered was "rife with dust, with workmen still on the premises" and would have triggered dangerous asthma attacks.

Billed as promoting "educational and sporting excellence" team manager Jim McInnes outlined the pitiful circumstances the cream of Scots athletes were forced to endure, and said: "The accommodation was a bit ropey, certainly dirty, and the toilets were filthy - just a straight pipe, a hose sticking down form the middle of the room and when you washed the water tended not to run away and to slop around on the floor for the rest of the day. And when you are exercising you need to shower."

On arrival Anglo Scot Alison Curbishley took ill with suspected heatstroke and, after suffering communication problems with her Chinese doctors, spent two days languishing in a hospital on a drip. Although she recovered she could not take part in athletics activities.

The food left a lot to be desired as Stephan Hayward explained: "I think I eat more in a day in Scotland than I did in four days in China. The breakfast was cold meat, with cold fried eggs and rubbery bread and warm Coke or Sprite. The highlight of the trip was going to MacDonald's on the Saturday night. They've got a good MacDonald's, at least."

Apart from the heat stroke, weight loss, hospital, cold fried eggs for breakfast and sleeping on the floor a wonderful experience

And when they did come to train they did not present a healthy advertisement for Scottish Athletics.

Jim McInnes added: "They started at about seven in the morning over there, which is okay for the Koreans or Singaporeans who are used to getting up at five, but in Scotland it's dark at that time. To be honest the Scots looked slovenly — it was a wee bit embarrassing," he said.

After moving sites the male members of the party discovered that their accommodation was not finished, forcing them to sleep on the floor of the girls rooms.

The training they received was not ideal either as hammer thrower Iain Park explained: "They didn't have my event and I had to put up with the discus. Before I went out there my coach wasn't too keen on me throwing a discus because but it was the only opportunity I had. It was a risk I shouldn't have taken, although I have had no comeback from it."

On the rare occasions the athletes did overcome their difficulties they impressed the coaches on the camp.

"The quality of the coaches was quite high and when we did get going the fitness of our athletes was good, especially Stephan. And when we were doing the 100 metres the coach Boru Boosey, who was an Olympic triple jumper for Great Britain between 1962 and 1972, started shouting to the sprinters 'Look at this guy, he's putting you to shame — look'. Steph was being praised for how fit he was right throughout the competition."

When the party came to competition they performed to the highest standards. Stephan won both the shot and the discus with throws of 14.28 metres and 44.80 metres respectively, with senior implements, and lain Park was close in the discus with 42.26 metres and secured a similar placing in the Javelin with a throw of 45.20. metres. In the javelin Lorna Jackson won her section with a throw of 46.96 metres while managing to throw a personal best of 11.90 metres in the shot putt.

Perhaps the performances were aided by the fact that they had left their accommodation to travel to a nearby Sheraton Hotel to buy some real food.

The final two days of the trip brightened them up with "fan-tastic" sightseeing in Beijing where they witnessed a sight that finally gave them something to aspire to — the opening of the Chinese Games, which was put on to impress the IOC delegates present to deliberate the venue of the Olympics.

As Stephan put it: "Beijing was a lot cleaner, and I think they have a good chance of getting the Olympics in 2000. The opening ceremony was very impressive in that 70,000 seat stadium."

Despite the rigours of what promised to be an educational trip the group enjoyed their stay and did benefit in some way from the experience.

Iain Park's suspicions about his future road in the sport were confirmed.

"It was a great experience", he said, "It was nice to meet all of the other athletes from the other countries and they did give us good information. One of the coaches suggested that I should try out for the dècathlon. I'm 6 foot 4 inches tall and quite skinny and the coach-reckons I could make the change. I attempted my first 100 metres over there and recorded an 11.8. So, maybe not this year or next year but I'll give the change serious thought."

Jim said he was touched by the camaraderie and spirit between the different nationalities.

"The general experience was good and there were no cliques or groups and all of the countries got on well together. There were tears and much swapping of names and addresses when they came to leave", he said.

Stephan's verdict: "You had to laugh", he said, and although enjoying the trip offered advice for future athletes: "It moves to a different place next year, but if it was the same place I would definitely advise them to take their own food — something to keep you going."

AF man Mark Flint, flew to victory in the Unicorn Leisure Great Scottish Run, earning himself a busman's holiday or two, writes Alasdair Fraser.

Leading the race from start to finish — to shatter both the course record and his own personal best, in 61-56 — the 30-year-old Shropshire man picked up a richly-deserved first prize of £10,000 free air travel and £9000 in cash.

Flint's superiority took even himself by surprise. "I can't believe I led all the way," he said afterwards. "It was a tough race with a good, strong, competitive field. The sharp turns proved a real tester."

Yet, it was those tight corners in the last quarter of the race which he used so expertly on the way to the largest prize of his running career. From a leading group of six,

Flint broke away with Sheffield's Carl Thackery and Leeds' Peter Whitehead just before nine miles. Then at eleven, as Rossendale's Dave Lewis challenged, he surged ahead to open up a half minute lead over the closing two miles. He capped it all perfectly with a breathtaking sprint to the line.

Flint now hopes the performance will clinch a place in the British line-up for the World Half Marathon Championships in Brussels, on October 3.

"Most of the lads in the running for places were here, so hopefully I've done enough to make the team for Belgium," he said, delighted at having knocked fourteen seconds off a personal best set on finishing third in the 1990 Great North Run.

If selected for the World event, Flint appears on course to improve on 29th place in the fixture at Newcastle last year where the British squad took overall sil-

Record run for flier Flint

Last year's World Half Marathon silver medallist, Thackery, and former national cross-country champion, Lewis, were left to battle it out for second — and some battle it was, with Thackery crossing the line less than a second ahead of his

Lewis, now apparently over the injury problem which forced his withdrawal from the World Championships Marathon team, continued his string of fine Glasgow showings. He was winner in 1991 and second in 1988, 1989, and 1992. The fact that he achieved his fastest ever time in the Great Scottish Run, but his lowest placing, was a testament to the quality on display.

Perhaps the biggest surprise was the absence of Kenyans among the leading group. Race flavourite and 1992 world champion, Benson Masya, missed out on his chance of free air travel, but the prize probably was not the most appropriate for him anyway — he withdrew having missed a flight in Nairobi. Swedish-based compatriot, William Musyoki, who won the race in 1988, had to settle for 12th place in 64:56, some two minutes down on his best. "I feel ill," was all he would say at the finish.

Peter Whitehead set a personal best time of 1:02:34 to beat Portugal's Paolo Catarino for fourth place.

First Scot for a second consecutive year was Peter Fleming, who set a new Scottish record as well as a lifetime best with his time of 1:02:52.

Fleming said: "I was disappointed with my placing, but delighted with my time.

"I got back to Scotland eleven days ago after spending five weeks training in altitude in Colorado, and that seemed to help greatly."

Fleming is convinced he has stated his case for Commonwealth Games selection, but added: "If I'm not picked by January or February, I won't be taking part. I need to begin my preparations by then."

In the meantime, he is preparing for the World Marathon Cup in San Sebastian late this month.

Scottish Cross Country champion, Tommy Murray of Spango Valley, finished 19th in 66:57, before discovering he has been suffering glandular fever.

A Scot took the veteran's prize

Edinburgh man, Brian
Kirkwood, of Leslie Deans
Racing Club coming seventeenth overall in an impressive 1:06:49.

East Europeans lead women home

iz McColgan's year-old course record was never under threat in the women's race which was dominated by a Ukrainian and a Russian.

Tatiana Pozdniakova, from Vinitea in the Ukraine, and Moscow's Alevtina Naumova, tantalised the field and caused endless hilarity as commentators grappled with pronunciation of their names.

Pozdniakova, a former Soviet 10,000m champion who finished 13th in the 1991 Tokyo world championships, was victorious in 1:13:14 — a comfortable 36 seconds clear of Naumova.

A past winner of the Melbourne and Cleveland marathons, the Muscovite was able to put 16 seconds between herself and third placed Suzanne Rigg, the World Cross Country Trials Champion, who clocked 1:14:06.

Neither of the East Europeans spoke English, but communicated their delight through translator and runner in the men's race Leonid Shvetsov from Moscow, placed 14th. An ashen-faced Rigg, who virtually stumbled across the line, was so exhausted she could barely utter much more at the finish.

Top Scot was Glasgow-born Lynn Harding who clocked 75:40:00 to finish ahead of former Glasgow marathon winner, Sandra Branney.

Harding, a former Scottish record holder for the marathon, said: "I'm very proud. I was keen to do well when I heard Suzanne was running, and I kept her in my sights for five or six miles. She's a different class, though, and I lost her after that. I'm quite satisfied with my time."

She is another set to compete in the World Marathon Cup in San Sebastian, where she looks in good shape to clinch the Commonwealth Games qualifying time. She finished 11th in the 1990 Commonwealth Games marathon despite fracturing a knee cap.

You could almost smell burning rubber as seventeen year old Ross Low won the wheelchair event. The new BSAD 1500m champion who holds Scottish titles at 100m, 200m, 400m, 800m, 1500m, 5000m, half marathon and marathon distances, continued his phenomenal success, and at one stage had even passed the lead car.

Sharp turns towards the end of the race slowed him down somewhat, but the Red Star AC athlete from Wishaw still finished eleventh overall in 64:11.

The Great Scottish Run continues to buck the trends of decline experienced by similar races in recent years. An entry of over 8000, not to mention the thousands of spectators who lined the streets, will have delighted race director, Peter MacLean, who has worked hard to see the event progress.

Spectator interest had tailed off after the Glasgow Marathon was terminated several years ago, but this year the attractive field — and hot sunshine — ensured a bumper turn-out.

There were also a further 2350 entrants in the junior races, where Pitreavie's Alasdair Donaldson continued a remarkable season to clinch first place ahead of David Donnelly (Shettleston) and Alan Reynolds (Cambuslang).

In the girls race, Catriona Morrison of Scotstoun ran a terrific race to pip Karen Kirk (Giffnock North) and Liza Baillie (Avonside Track).

cott Yule of Lesmahagow had "done a few one-mil-ers" in the build-up to this, his first Great Scottish Run, with tactics carefully drawn up the night before "down the local".

It was hardly earth-shattering, then, to hear the burly twentysomething year old cheerily reveal: "I won't be threatening the Kenvans this year."

Scott makes no bones about it - he's a fun runner, and the race ahead was something he'd probably rather delay thinking about. "I just want to finish. Survival's the name of the game, I'm afraid," he added, a little more soberly.

Contrast Scott with the quietly confident figure of Robin Murray of Galashiels - about to take on his fourth Glasgow race, with eight or nine half marathons already under his belt this season — and you have an immediate impression of the range of ability present in Glasgow.

"I'm hoping for 1-27 or 1-28," said Robin, "Glasgow has never been a great race for me, personally, but I've been covering 30 miles a week and feel in great shape now."

G. Williams sprints in 187th hoped extra buckets would ensure they exceeded the sum. "They tend to get pretty heavy," revealed Sam, his smile flickering for a second, "But we just take it easy and try and have a good laugh with the crowds on the way round. We're not here to compete - just to savour the special atmosphere and raise a bit of money.

Certainly, the race wouldn't be the same without its emphasis on charity. A shining example was provided by Glasgow mother of eight, Elenor Armstrong, running for the Linburn School for the handicapped.

Her efforts to look after her own disabled son had this year kept training opportunities, but her pride and determination left you with no doubt she would finish - and raise some muchneeded cash.

"My son takes up quite a lot of my time, and so this year I'll be happy to finish in around three hours, whereas last year I managed 2-40. This bucket's rather awkward to carry as you run, but I know I'll finish."

Then there was Iim Simpson, running for a Bosnian children's charity, who, if not requiring an ambulance by the finish, should certainly have been greeted by men in white coats and hurled into a padded van.

Jim had decided to transform himself into one giant, black jogging dustbin, straddled by a dummy, in his efforts to attract attention and raise cash - not the most comfortable of apparel in the burning sun.

"I've run all six full Glasgow marathons and ran the half last year - but I've never run quite like this. I just hope some clouds follow me round," said Jim, squinting at the cloudless sky. He was confident of raising upwards of £3000.

and raring to go, the deafening sound is greeted by little more than a shuffle and then a stroll. which finally breaks into a tentative jog as the seething, 12,000odd legged mass of humanity winds its way further and further up High Street.

One of the most striking aspects of the race is the unspoken sense of comradeship generated among complete strangers, although this wanes noticeably in the toilet queues.

Like pre-race favourite, Kenyan Benson Masya, some had missed their transport, and there were a few stragglers sprinting to catch the tail end of the field, witness to a scene of devastation.

As the dust settled, a sea of discarded black bin bags, jerseys, hats and drink cartons remained for some 2000 hardy volunteer helpers to clean up - not an enviable task.

But relaxing - parched after my own exertions in the sun all thoughts turned to another ice cream and the heroics of runners like first-timer, Denise Tweed, from Milngavie; dinner break training specialist from Easterhouse, William Cosgrove; and Glasgow "footballers"

Martin Graham and Ian Kelly. They all made it safely home but, true to form, Scott Yule didn't threaten the Kenyans.

A welcome end to summer hibernation

THEIR summer hibernation over, Scotland's orienteers are welcoming the deterioration in the weather as they look forward to the resumption of their season.

The level of interest in this rapidly growing sport is demonstrated by the numbers who were set to take part in the Scottish Six-Day Orienteering Event held on Royal Deeside.

There were a remarkale 3700 entries for each day.

The serious competitive action was due to resume on September 18 with the fourth round of Scottish League matches at Barry Buddon, near Carnoustie.

The fifth round of the seven counting events towards the league title wll be the first ever Open Event organised by Perth Orienteers.

The final two competitions are at Caldemuir near Peebles and Bennachie. Aberdeen.

During September and October there were two major junior contests lined up with the Lothian & Borders squad going into the Junior Inter Area Competition as strong favourites and a Scottish international side set to take part in unior Home Internationals in South Wales.

Injecting variety into training thletes and coaches shold 60 seconds every fifth, sixth or always be on the look-out A for new methods of training which will produce improved competitive performance and make work-outs more interesting and enjoyable.

These fresh approaches should also provide increased physiological and psychological responses and give the athlete more confidence to try out different race tactics.

One of the key sessions in the schedule of endurance athletes is the steady, sustained run over distances ranging from three to 22 miles or more depending on ege, experience and the event being trained for.

From time to time this particular session can be altered so that the athlete runs at varied paces during the course of the run. For example, an athlete whose steady run of six miles lasts for 36 minutes is running at an average of six minutes per

One alternative is to run alternate 5,30/5.45 miles with 6.30/6.15 miles. Overall he takes the same time (i.e. 36 minutes) to complete the session but the work-distribution involves a greater range of heart-beats per nimute, a higher demand on the anaerobic energy systems and increased utilisation of the white, fast-twitch muscle Tacticaly and psychologically the athlete is also preparing himself to cope with changing paces during competition The list of variations is endless so the imaginative coach and/or athlete has many options. Based on a pace of around six minutes per mile for a normal six-miles training run the choices include sessions such as:- - (1) 2 miles in 13.00 + 3 miles in 18.00 + 1 mile as fast as possible; (2) 3 miles in 19.30 + 3 miles in less than 18.00; (3) 2 miles in 11.30 + 2 miles in 13.00 + 2 miles in 11.30 or less; and (4) 2 miles in 13.00 + 2 miles in 12.00 + 2miles in 11.00. Obviously these targets will be modified to acoomoodate the athlete's average mile pace over a selected distance. The effects of weather, hills, busy roads, crowded pedestrian walkways and other hazards will have to be considered when planning sessions.

Another option is for the athlete to inject a fast burst of sustained running lasting for 30 to seventh minute of an otherwise steady-state training run. Or he/she can insert a short hillrunning sessions into a run e.g. 15 to 20 minutes steady. I have heard of some athletes integrating a period of stair running into a steady-state outing though obviously great care must be taken when tackling innovative sessions to ensure the avoidance of injuries. Many coaches in the United States intersperse circuittype activities into aerobic running sessions on the principle that all-round body strength is developed e.g. 10 minutes steady + 30 seconds pressups/30 seconds sit-ups/30 seconds half-squats + 10 minutes steady run. The series is repeated twice to give an overall total of 40 minutes steady running and 4.5 minutes of circuit-type exercises. Again, care must be taken with sessions such as thesewhich involve the use os a wide range of muscle groups because injuries are most likely to occur when the athlete is experiencing fatigue. Used judiciously and intelligently however they provide excellent work-outs with plenty of variety.

Attempting to cover specific distance targets in specified times is another useful training discipline. Once a month, for example, the athlete could aim to reach a certain mark over a particular training route. Typical sessions could be attaining the five-mile point in a designated time based on previous efforts over the distance e.g. 35 minutes in October, 32 to 34 minutes in November, 30 to 32 minutes in December etc., A similar session would be endeavouring to complete a targeted number of loops on a circular route within a nominated timescale. To ensure progress the athlete would have to ensure the identification of the exact spot which he/she reached within the time limit

Most of these ideas can be incorporated into fartlek sessions on the roads/country or on the track. The intensity of efforts can range from easy jogging to flat-out sprinting. The extensity can veer from as little as 30 metres/5 seconds to three miles 15 to 20 minutes. Density (i.e.the amount of recovery) can range from pauses of a few seconds to around five minutes depending on fitness, age and ability.

DEREK PARKER'S SCHEDULES

A typical fartlek session done either on the road or along woodland paths or grassland trails could include efforts at a wide range of training/ race paces e.g. 8 x 60 seconds at 5K effort (jog 20 seconds recovery between each repetition) + 4 x seconds at 3K effort (jog 30 seconds recovery) + 2 x 60 at 1500 metres effort (45 seconds recovery jog) + 1 x 60 seconds at 800 metres effort (60 seconds jog) + 1 x 60 seconds full-effort.

Typical track sessions using varied pace efforts to develop fitness and the ability to make or respond to race surges include: - - 800 metres at 5K effort (30 seconds recover jog) + 200 metres at 1500 metres/3000 metres effort 30 seconds jog recovery) x 5 sets: OR 400 metres at 1500 metres pace (60 seconds recovery iog) + 100 metres at 800 metres effort (30 to 45 seconds jog recovery) x 6 sets.

All these sessions are for athletes of UK international standard. They should be modified to accommodate individual requirements.

Joanne's summer of success

66 hat pain in the neck!", was the response which greeted my inquiry about fifteen year old Joanne Walker, the Louden Runners athlete who has hit the headlines this summer with a string of successes in the iavelin

Coach Kenneth Morton meant it affectionately, but meant it all the same. "She is. shall we say, a little injury prone," said Kenneth, referring to Joanne's tendency to pick up angle injuries quite unrelated, but nonetheless damaging, to her endeavours at the javelin.

The teenager, who lives in Newmills, near Kilmarnock later revealed: "The first time it happened was about three years ago. I broke it when I was sprinting, although I didn't feel a thing until the next day when it was quite swollen."

Over the last two years Joanne has had recurrent problems with both her ankles but, after her latest fine showing at the Exeter meeting, she aggravated the injury at a disco in the Devonshire town.

In Exeter, competing in the Inter-Area U-20 match in place of Lorna Jackson, otherwise engaged in China, Joanne finished fourth overall - a stuming achievement for a fifteen year

"I was quite pleased with that," she says modestly, "particularly since I nearly threw 40

Joanne is, however, quite used to out-throwing older competitors, being presently top-ranked at under-17 level in Scotland. At the Celtic Games in Wales

she raised her PB from 41.19 to 12.02, to take gold in the under-15 category, adding to a summer of success in which she won the Avishire Schools' best field performance at under-17s, took silver in the Scottish Schools' international in Dublin against the best of the home countries; and was also victorious in the West District Championships

She said: "It's been a fantastic summer for me. Unfortunately though I'm still searching for a sponsor. I have been trying for a while, but I've just had no luck

It has become apparent recently that, although relatively impoverisdhed for talent at under-23 and perhaps also under-20 level, Scotland has a startlingly talented generation of under-17 and under-15 stars waiting in the wings - Joanne being the perfect example.

But what is equally apparent is, that without the financial support required by the majority of these champions-in-waiting, to cover costs of competing, travelling, and equipping themselves, many will never realise their

Meanwhile, Joanne has promised to change her ways.

"I'm going to rest over winter, so there should be no more problems with my ankles when I come back."

DUMFRIES janitor, Mark McDonald (left), made his mark on athletics history by becoming the first professional to win a Scottish amateur athletics title when he dominated the Scottish heavy events at the Cowal Gathering in Dunoon.

McDonald won the shot (14.12m); 28lb for distance (20.92m), was second in the caber and 56lb weight for height (13ft 6in) and third in the hammer (33.56m). Pettigrew won the hammer with 34.76m.

DOUG WALKER, the British junior internationalist from Edinburgh AC, climaxed a remarkable season of sprinting in professional meetings when he won the 80 yards British Championship at the 162year-old Braemar Highland Gathering in

He had already captured the British 110m and 90m titles, at Peebles and Langhold - in fact it was the fifth open meeting sprint success of the season for Walker whose Braemar victims included fellow amateur and Scottish 200m champion Keith Douglas (Edinburgh Southern) and Dave McAllister (Cramlington) third.

Douglas turned the tables in the 100 yards handicap, winning off one yard in 9.48 secs, and Dundee Hawkhill's Terry Reid, back from the USA, staged an outstanding finale to the mile, beating Australian Brett McDonald

Army high jumper John Renwick, a Yorkshire-based soldier and also an amateur, broke the ground record with 6ft 3.5ins, while Graeme Akland, a lecturer at Edinburgh University, won the hill race in 26-19 ahead of Dave Weir (Perth Strathtay) and Tim Griffin (Westerlands).

But the professionals salvaged honour in the heavy event championships, with Alistair Gunn, from Halkirk, taking the overall title. He had individual wins in the 16lb shot, 28lb weight for distance, and heavy hammer, and placed second in the caber, second equal in the 56lb weight for height, and third in the heavy stone.

mid-season slump for Aberdeen AC's young 400 metres hurdles star, Middleton, was the cause of some concern - but he needn't have lost too much

Just weeks later, the eighteen year old stormed to two personal best performances at the English U-20 AAA championships in Bedford, where he finished a creditable fifth in the final.

He then surpassed that sparkling showing, with victory in the Dickie Wilmot and Pat Cooper Memorial U20 Inter-Area meeting in

More world stars for Edinburgh

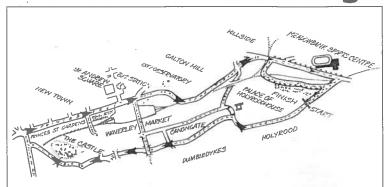

FOUR world class athletes have confirmed their entry to the first-ever BUPA Great Caledonian Run on October 3, with organisers confident more big names will follow, writes Alasdair Fraser.

The announcement comes as a timely boost to the 10K race, which is routed through the streets of central Edinburgh.

Gary Staines, the 1990 European 5000m silver medallist; Mick MacLeod the 1984 Olympic 10,000m silver medallist; British marathon internationalist Steve Brace; and Tadessa Kaesa, last year's world junior half marathon champion, will give the race a class feel.

Organisers International will be working right up until race day to try and lure more big names to join a list of celebrities, including Sir Jimmy Saville, who missed his first ever Great Scottish Run, last month, due to illness.

Also set to run are survivors from the Glasgow race, Scottish Rugby stars Scott Hastings and Sean Lineen.

As we went to press entries were already approaching three thousand - a healthy show of interest considering this is the

Ian Harris, spokesman for Nova organisers International said: delighted by the initial surge of interest in the race and it looks like we will attract a very large entry.

Carroll clear half marathon champ

MIKE CARROLL, from Annan, had almost two minutes to spare over Fife's Terry Mitchell as he took the Scottish half marathon crown at Aberdeen, writes Doug Gillon.

Carroll clocked 65:05 after Mitchell had put him under intense pressure over the opening five miles. But Mitchell, a former, succeeded only in breaking himself, and faded to second in 66-54 ahead of Fraser Clyne

(67-35). First veteran (M45) was Colin Youngson, ninth overall, in 71-07. The first eight of the 800 starters were inside 70-00

Elaine Mckay stayed on course to take the women's title 79-22 - the night before she and fourth-placed Shettleston clubmate Julie Harvie had gone for a walk and got lost, finally being seen home in a police car!

Mitchell got back on the winning trail in the Loch Leven half, at Kinross, finishing in 68-50, 83 seconds ahead of Jim Douglas of FMC Carnegie. Margaret Robertson, of Dundee Road Runners, won the women's event

Alan Robson, less than pleased with his fourth place in the Aberdeen half marathon, restored his pride as he set a course record of 30-14 to win the Cumnock tenth Anniversary 10,000m run, 35 seconds ahead of Kilbarchan's Gerry Fairley.

The same day, Robson's Leslie Deans clubmate, Ian Brown, was miles better on the Inch. at Perth. Former world junior internationalist Brown was timed at 30-53, nine seconds ahead of Falkirk Victoria's Gary Grindley over 10,000m.

Carroll also enjoyed an overwhelming win in the Carluke 10 mile event. His time of 50-30 was 57 seconds ahead of Ian McCafferty's protege, Alaister Russell, with David Ross (LDRC) third in 53-10.

Tommy Murray, the national cross-country champion, recovering from a bout of glandular fever which ruined the later part of his season, returned to form in the Inverclyde Festival half

Murray was almost two minutes clear of his veteran IBM Spango Valley club colleague, Cammy Spence, as he won in 68-28. Glen Stewart won a tactical street mile in 4-20, just a second clear of Grant Graham, with John Mackay third in 4-22.

Campbell Joss of Bellahouston took the Scottish veterans' half marathon title at Lochinch, with a time of 75-11: veteran Andy Stirling, of Bo'ness, clocked 3-45-23 to win the 36-mile Two Bridges race.

Graham Laing, the former Commonwealth marathon internationalist, from Inverness Harriers, won the 16-mile Inverness-Drumnadrochit event for the eighth time, in 88-59.

Isostar Competition

5 lucky winners will each receive an Isostar bag containing cans, powder, towel & sweatshirt.

isostar is Europe's number one sports drink and has been scientifically formulated to work for everyone involved in sport, not just the elite.

isotar's isotonic formula (has the same particle concentration as the body's own fluids) means that it is absorbed into the small intestine, faster than water, thus combating dehydration. It provides four types of carbohydrate, for immediate, medium and long term energy, six minerals and nine vitamins, to replace those lost in perspiration.

"Loss of fluid and the loss of the body's carbohydrate stores are the two major causes of fatigue.....the capacity to perform is reduced" Consensus Statement 1992* in fact, recent studies have shown that a fluid loss of only 2% of body weight reduces athletic performance by 20%.

As the experts say;

"Ingestion before and during exercise of appropriate fluids will improve performance not just of the elite athlete by of all people involved in sport and physical activity." Consensus Statement 1993*

Since isostar's launch in the UK last autumn it has become the official sports drink supplier to the England Rugby Team and was official sports drink at the 1993 London Marathon. For the first time in the Marathon's history, the water and sports drinks stations were separated, allowing isostar five ded-

A new drink, isostar Light, was launched recently. It is also isotonic and has the same minerals and vitamins as the standard isostar but with only 60% of the calories. Isostar light will therefore be ideal for people who want to limit their calorie intake but still wish to use a fast acting sports drink. The drink will be lightly carbonated and grapefruit flavoured (standard isostar is still and lemon flavoured).

* The quotes are taken from a consensus statement following a meeting of top UK nutritionists and scientists. For a copy of the full statement, contact: Wander Ltd, Station Road, King's Langley, Herts, WD4 8LJ. Tel: 0923 266122

Please read the details below then answer the 3 questions.

- 1. Who was the male winner of the 1993 London Marathon?
- 2. An isotonic drink has:
 - a) lower particle concentration than the body's fluids?
 - b) the same particle concentration as the body's fluids?
 - c) higher particle concentration as the body's fluids?
- 3. If 2% of body fluid is lost through sweating, performance levels can decrease by up to:

 - b) 10%?
 - cl 20%7
